On November 7, 1984, [redacted] advised he knows the appointee. He explained he initially met the appointee back in the early 1950's through his [redacted] association with the appointee's husband, [redacted]. He explained they have been good friends since that time and he had nothing but complimentary things to say about the appointee. He explained she has been an intelligent, impressive woman down through the years. He noted she comes across as an impressive individual from every vantage point. He noted he has been with her in numerous social settings down through the years and has never witnessed any behavior which was less than mature or professional at all times. COMMITTEE FOR THE FREE WORLD
211 East 51st Street
New York City, New York

On November 15, 1984, [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] advised that he is an executive committee member of the COMMITTEE FOR THE FREE WORLD and has been on this committee since its formation in 1980. He advised that he has known the appointee for 35 years and stated that she has performed in a splendid manner as executive director of this committee. He described her as a very fine writer with a fantastic mind. He advised that the appointee had worked for him in the late 1940's and early 1950's when he was an assistant editor at Commentary Magazine. He stated that she had been a secretary and had written an article anonymously, which article was accepted by the magazine and she eventually became a writer. He stated that over the years he has known her and has never heard any derogatory information concerning her nor does he have any reason to believe she ever abused drugs or alcohol. He stated that she is a loyal American and just a fantastic person. He advised that he considered her to be a person of great administrative ability and a person who deals very well with other people. He advised that when the appointee was not specifically employed, he recalled that she has done many free lance odd jobs in the editorial field and also has written several books. He stated he would highly recommend her for a position of trust and confidence with the United States Government.

Dear [redacted]

If I choose to humiliate an old man who's obviously wasting his life living and working in New York City, by being polite and saying I "loved" your essay, then old man, you damn well better defer to me and be polite back. You - fucking haughty arrogant asshole! Who do you think you are? Ernest Hemingway? You blew it, Noem, and we both know it for sure now.

What if I show up at Settler's Landing some weekend and tap you on the shoulder as you're getting out of your limo? You'd probably have a heart attack and die right there. I've fought niggers in the street with knives and broken bottles - lived on the street - survived - so I could lie here in this $50.00 a night Howard Johnson's Room and write this letter.

You use your secretary to shield you from the outside world much like a little boy hides behind his mother's coat. You've never made an enemy like me before, Mistie, you're really in for it now.

You fucking cocksucking Faggot - all you had to do was be polite, businesslike, to my wife on the phone when she called - for 3 minutes - but no - NO - you had to be typical - the typical schmuck - and now you'll wish you never shot off your mouth about 1984. I'm gonna get you Love [redacted] - The Brotherhood

P.S. For 10 years I went to Friday night services and Sunday School every week - 10 years - at Temple B'nai Israel in OKLA. city, OKLA.

They tried to make me a Jew, [redacted] but a little marijuana and LSD was all it took to make me see through the whole thing: namely: 5,000 years of the Judeo-Christian ethic: a black mark on man's history. Where was your "God" from 1933-1945 when 1 million of your people got gassed? "He" was sleeping, right, Noenue. Sorry, pal - you think I have no faith in a higher creator? You're wrong, but my faith would NEVER lead me to a gas chamber.

P.S.S. IF you only knew how we got our money to buy the $80,000.00 in records we own, would you believe Jewish Family Services and churches all over the country have "donated" (or been conned out of) to our cause. Sorry [redacted] you have Really met the ENEMY.

Loved your essay on 1984 in the January 5, 1984 Miami Herald!
It stimulated my creative juices and sat down and immediately turned out this masterpiece, so I thought I'd share it with you.

my background. It's like I always said: "Losers go under and winners

b6

(preface): I am writing the following with all due respects and acknowledgment to the fact that a contradiction is involved in trying to use logic, rationale, and deduction to prove that logic rationale and deduction are evil: where "evil" is defined as that which man should not be doing or thinking while alive on Earth in 1984.

In mathematics we learn that if one assumes a hypothesis, and then, based on that hypothesis, proves, or arrives at a contradiction, using logic, then the hypothesis is false.

Let us assume, then, that the words "I" and "God" have meaning using conceptualizations communicated in English, and for the purpose of clarity, use Webster's definitions for all the rest of the words used.

Therefore, suppose we take the 4 words: "cat" "the" "ate" and "I". There are 24 possible combinations of juxtaposition for these 4 words if we wish to make them all-inclusive in a sentence. However most combinations would convey or "communicate" "non"sense. Yet one possible combination does communicate "sense." Namely: "I ate the cat." The reason for this, as is the reason that a 7 digit telephone number must be dialed in proper order to get the call you want, is that we live in a rational logical world set up for us, that we are trained to "understand," so that the sentence "I ate the cat," has "meaning," whereas the sentence "Cat ate the I," or "The ate I cat," does not. Makes sense, right? If not, go back to first grade.

The last statement above should give a clue to what is coming. For, in fact, Let's go back even earlier than age 6 - say, age 1, or even age 1 day. A human child of age 1 day - soon to be one of us - too soon, perhaps - has yet to be "trained," or conditioned, if you will, into "understanding" our English language conceptualization communicating process. He is pure, clear, and free to the extent that he, for awhile at least, will not dress in English the way I do. They haven't got to him yet! For that matter, a child of, say 1,2,3, or maybe even 4 or 5 is bored to tears with the preacher's sermon in church in which he is forced to sit still and listen to on Sunday morning. This youth has not yet "learned" that God exists. The process is gradual, but by age 6,7, or 8, after a few years of school and Sunday school, acculturation to the beliefs of his parents begins. "God," the word, is taught to have meaning as a supreme creator, all-seeing, all-knowing, omniscient, omnipresent. The child, in a perplexed state, finally asks himself: "Where did I come from?" And the answer is everywhere - from TV, books, movies, billboards - "you came from God." The Thought Police have now begun to assume control.

What if the poor kid somehow escaped this training and conditioning? What if he lived in an environment with parents who couldn't speak any language, in the jungle, for instance, where the food was on the trees, there for the picking? What would he be like at 5, 6, or 7, or 15, 16, or 17? My contention is: we'd have a whole new ball game! But that isn't the case, is it, in America, where it is a felony not to submit your child to school "training." Chalk one more up for the Thought Police and welcome to 1984!!!

The question: "Where did I come from?" can be thoughtfully answered: "Who says you're 'I' to begin with?" The smart-mouthed kid with a little training might respond: "René Descartes said: 'cogito ergo sum': 'I think, therefore I am.'" Don't believe a word of it, for you see, the sentence: "I think, therefore I am" presupposes, or hypothesizes that "I" exists. This is clear when one realizes that the pronoun "I" begins the sentence-conceptualization and proceeds with the verb case of "to think", namely: "I think." Says Who? Says my mother, that's who! So there!!! Mama created "me" then, by calling me by name enough times till I started believing her. See the fallacy creeping up! In truth, "I" that is, poor little "me," was probably born in a struggle for acceptance and love from Mama, and in defense for what "I" began to perceive would eventually happen to "me" if I didn't capitulate and become what they wanted: namely, me. And "I've" been defending myself ever since! Now I've got a Master's degree in math. Thank you Big Brother!

Please don't remind me now that the very first word of this essay was "I" for without my training all you'd probably get out of me would be a smile and a gurgle. I have no other way to communicate to you. They made sure of that. They have mental hospitals for those who say "Cat the ate I," instead of "I ate the cat." I don't want to get locked up. Neither did Winston Smith, but they got him eventually.

In conclusion then, today's New York Times tells what a wonderful world all 4 billion of us I's have inherited or perpetuated - depending on how much evil power each one of us chooses to assert over one another. If my existence as "I" is evil, and getting worse every day, as "I" believe it is, then the only logical solution to the problem would and should be a bullet in the brain. That is, unless there's a way out - a way to start over - clean the slate of my mind - mentally begin again. Maybe there is a way, for if there wasn't at least hope, then I would have chosen the bullet long ago. But I'm not going to write it down here. You'll have to get it out of me some other way because the Thought Police are everywhere. I've got to be careful. I've got to run, to hide.....and I've got to wait.....Wait for the right time to act, while I seek out those comrades that want out too. Sorry [redacted] but the Brotherhood

Free Money! Some Folks Snatching $25 an Hour Right Out of Thin Air

By LISA S. VICKERY

Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

Wendy and Alen Berkowitz have hit on a sure-fire way of making money. It's called buying low and selling high. What they buy are Canadian quarters, sometimes for as little as 11 cents of 60, and sell them, or, rather, trade them in, for 25 cents American.

Making the rounds from store to store around Portland, Ore., turning over $3, or so at each store, the Berkowitzes say they have netted together as much as $100 in four hours. "Nobody cares about eight quarters," says Wendy Berkowitz, 34 years old. "It's no big deal."

Canadian dollars now sell for around 52 cents U.S. But Mrs. Berkowitz says she has bought Canadian quarters in bulk for as little as 61 American cents per Canadian dollar from First Interstate Bank of Oregon. A bank spokesman says a rate that low is rare, but the bank does offer a favorable price on bulk purchases of Canadian coins to avoid the expense of shipping the coins back to Canada.

Says Mrs. Berkowitz: "You can make real money as soon as you've waited out of the bank. The bank is the problem."

Trading the Canadian quarters for 25 cents American. But generally, Portland retailers say they will exchange small amounts of Canadian bills at face value, American, although they do discount Canadian bills. One reason is that the retailers' vending machines will accept U.S. coins only. Another is that some Northwest banks often accept Canadian quarters at par, too. At Washington Mutual Savings Bank, Seattle, a teller says that except for amounts over $10, Canadian quarters mixed in rolls with U.S. quarters are valued at 25 cents.

It is possible that the Berkowitzes' success could attract too many other players and ruin the game. But the Berkowitzes say they aren't worried. "Other people have other things to do," Mrs. Berkowitz says. Before she got into foreign-exchange arbitrage, Mrs. Berkowitz was a teacher, but she says she lost her teaching job for teaching in the middle.

Besides turning quarters, the Berkowitzes travel in their mobile-home sized wagon, with toys and music too for unpublishing and trade in rare records.

Who really pays the bill for the Canadian quarters? That's what we were trying to figure out, says Mrs. Berkowitz. "Nobody is, but somebody must be."

On November 9, 1984, FBI records were reviewed concerning appointee and relatives. The records reveal that ex-spouse MOSHE DECTER was [REDACTED]

b7E

Record was from 1962 when DECTER was living in New York City.(S) Record also reveals that appointee filed for divorce from DECTER for cruel and inhuman treatment in Ramsey County, Minnesota, and obtained a divorce decree on August 18, 1955.

FBI records contain no other references to DECTER or other listed relatives.

EDUCATION

On November 14, 1984, [REDACTED], Counselor at Central High School, 275 North Lexington Parkway, St. Paul, Minnesota, telephone (612) 645-9217, was contacted at his place of employment and advised of the agent's identity and that he was being interviewed concerning his knowledge of the high school experience of MIDGE ROSENTHAL. [REDACTED] provided the following:

[REDACTED] was able to provide one record sheet which indicated that MARJORIE ROSENTHAL, date of birth July 25, 1927, entered Central High School on September 8, 1942, and graduated June 15, 1945. ROSENTHAL achieved a score of 134 on the Otis IQ test, which she took in September, 1942.

b7C

While at Central, ROSENTHAL was enrolled in a college preparatory course of study which included writing, literature, mathematics, social science, history, physics, and social studies.

The record sheet indicates that most of her grades are in the 90s, with the lowest being 84 and the highest 97. The record shows that her attendance was good, although 16½ days were missed in 1944 and 12 in 1945 for unknown reasons. The only other remarks indicate that ROSENTHAL applied at the University of Minnesota on December 15, 1945, at the W.H. Orme Company in January, 1945, at the University of Chicago on February 15, 1946, and at New York University on June 10, 1946.

[REDACTED] advised that there were no other student records which dated back that far inasmuch as records dealing with all other aspects of their education are destroyed after five years. [REDACTED] further advised that there would be no staff members at the school who would remember ROSENTHAL.

A copy of ROSENTHAL's record sheet is attached hereto.

[] ADVISED THAT HE AND PODHORETZ ARE BOTH FELLOWS IN THE NEO-CONSERVATIVE MOVEMENT AND HE CONSIDERED HER THE OUTSTANDING SOCIAL CRITIC IN THE UNITED STATES. [] DESCRIBED THE NEO-CONSERVATIVE MOVEMENT AS BEING MADE UP OF INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE FORMER MARXISTS AND/OR SOCIALISTS WHO "HAVE BEEN MUGGED BY REALITY". [] STATED THAT THESE INDIVIDUALS ARE AFFRAID OF A TOTALITARIAN STATE, AND OVERWEANING GOVERNMENT AND ARE EXTREMELY ANTI-SOVIET.

b6
b7C

[] ADVISED THAT PODHORETZ WAS EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF THE COMMITTEE FOR A FREE WORLD, (CFW) AND HER DUTIES WITH THIS ORGANIZATION OCCUPIED THE MAJORITY OF HER TIME.

[] DESCRIBED THE CFW AS A GROUP OF AMERICAN AND EUROPEANS WHO FORMED AN ANTI-SOVIET, ANTI-MARXIST ORGANIZATION.

[] ADVISED THAT PODHORETZ WAS ALSO A VERY FINE WRITER AND LECTURER WHO OFTEN WROTE ARTICLES FOR "COMMENTARY MAGAZINE" A PUBLICATION OF THE ERIN JISCITE, THE OWNER AND EDITOR OF WHICH IS PODHORETZ'S HUSBAND, []

b6

[] [] DESCRIBED THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE AS AN ANTI-SOVIET ORGANIZATION AND ADVISED THAT MOST OF THE

[] WAS QUESTIONED REGARDING PODHORETZ'S PERIODS OF UNEMPLOYMENT FROM JUNE, 1970, TO SEPTEMBER, 1971, AND FROM JULY, 1973, UNTIL NOVEMBER, 1974, WHEN PODHORETZ WAS ALLEGEDLY WRITING BOOKS. [] STATED THIS WOULD ABSOLUTELY MAKE SENSE INASMUCH AS PODHORETZ'S WRITINGS GO BACK YEARS AND YEARS. HOWEVER, [] ADVISED THAT THIS WAS NOT ACTUALLY UNEMPLOYMENT IN THE SAME SENSE AS UNEMPLOYMENT FOR THE AVERAGE WORKER. PODHORETZ ALWAYS WAS WRITING, LECTURING AND REMAINING ACTIVE, EVEN WHEN NOT SPECIFICALLY EMPLOYED BY ANY BUSINESS OR ORGANIZATION.

[] DESCRIBED PODHORETZ AS A FINE WOMAN.

[] STATED THAT PODHORETZ HAD A GOOD SENSE OF HUMOR, WAS HUMBLE AND VERY BRIGHT. IN FACT, [] CONSIDERED PODHORETZ TO BE A BONIFIED INTELLECTUAL. [] CONSIDERED PODHORETZ TO BE AN EXTREMELY LOYAL HUMAN BEING TO THE UNITED STATES.

[] ADVISED PODHORETZ WAS THE EMBODIMENT OF HONESTY AND DISCRETION AND CONSIDERED HER MORAL CHARACTER TO BE ABSOLUTELY ABOVE REPROACH. IN FACT, SMITH STATED PODHORETZ'S SON-IN-LAW, [] WAS EMPLOYED AS AN UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

b7c

[] ADVISED THAT PODHORETZ HAD NO PROBLEMS WITH ALCOHOL ABUSE OR DRUG USE AND HAD NEVER EVEN HEARD ANYTHING OF A DEROGATORY NATURE REGARDING PODHORETZ. - RUC -

DETAILS:

SOCIAL ACQUAINTANCE

On November 19, 1984, SA [] was telephonically contacted by [] Vice President, SHAVANO INSTITUTE, 7800 East Orchard Road, Suite 320, Englewood, Colorado, telephone number (303) 279-6536, advising that the institute is a non-political Public Policy Center which conducts nationwide seminars on current issues, publishes and produces radio and television programs on relevant issues. [] advised that he has employed the appointee several times during the past three years, which approximates the length of time that he had known MIDGE DECTER PRODHORETZ, whom he refers to as MRS. DECTER.

b7C

[] advised that the SHAVANO INSTITUTE (SI) is a separate division of HILLSDALE COLLEGE in Hillsdale, Michigan, a privately funded, independant Liberal Arts College. [] founded SI with the college President, [] in Denver, Colorado, in 1981.

MRS. DECTER has spoken repeatedly at seminars sponsored by SI on a multitude of topics. She was a featured speaker in early August, 1984, when she spoke in Michigan. The topic of discussion was "Defending Freedom and Keeping the Peace" and DECTER was one of eight speakers on nuclear disarmament.

[] advised that the appointee is a well respected editor and has authored numerous books, among them "Liberal Parents - Radical Children." [] advised that he has read a lot of DECTER's work, and greatly admires her writing ability, logical development of thought and philosophical orientation, which is much like his own and that of the SI, which he described as "neo-conservative." [] described the appointee as having become part of a "neo-conservative movement and politics" as a result of her husband's interest and contacts as Editor of "COMMENTARY MAGAZINE." [] advised that the appointee is an able commentator on social trends, in the larger context of political debates in this country. MRS. DECTER has expertise in policy areas with which SI is concerned, [] opined, and is a person with similar views and values to those individuals with whom SI is associated, such as members of the HOOVER INSTITUTION, [] members of the Ethics of the Public Policy Center in Washington, D. C., and SCAISE FAMILY CHARITABLE TRUST, which is a Philanthropic Organization oriented toward Public Policy Centers.

b7Cb6

[] opined that MRS. DECTER is always prepared, not prone to error in statistics or delivery, and is one of the most able and leading thinkers that he can recall in a time when women's leadership roles have been so neglected, and deserve more emphasises. [] used MRS. DECTER as one of the nation's most qualified women to be called upon to serve this country and rated her character and fitness to serve at the very highest of any rating scale. The appointee's loyalty is unquestionable, as are her reputation and associates. [] views her as an exceptional American, thinker, leader, contributor, and one who thoroughly understands issues. If confirmed by the Senate, [] opined that MRS. DECTER will significantly contribute to this administration and bring forth a femanine view point based in strength, knowledge, education, and travel.

b7C

[] advised that the use of illegal drugs by MRS. DECTER is inconceivable to him and in his professional relationship with her he had never observed alcohol abuse. MRS. DECTER is highly respected and regarded and [] was pleased to have had the opportunity to comment and to highly recommend her.

[REDACTED] advised he has known of a MIDGE DECTER PODHORETZ for approximately ten years and has been well acquainted with her on both a professional and social basis over the last two years.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] advised he and PODHORETZ are both fellows in the "neoconservative movement" and he considered her the outstanding social critic in the United States. [REDACTED] described the "neoconservative" afraid of a totalitarian state and "over-weaning"

b6

[REDACTED] advised PODHORETZ was Executive Secretary of the COMMITTEE FOR A FREE WORLD (CFW), and her duties with this organization occupied the majority of her time. [REDACTED] described the CFW as a group of Americans and Europeans who formed an anti-soviet, anti-marxist organization.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] advised PODHORETZ was also a very fine writer and lecturer who often wrote articles for "Commentary Magazine," a publication of the AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE, the owner and editor of which is PODHORETZ'S husband, [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] described the AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE as an anti-soviet organization and advised that most of the articles appearing in "Commentary Magazine" were political or religious in nature.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] was questioned regarding the applicant's periods of unemployment from June of 1970, to September of 1971, and from July of 1973, to November of 1974, when PODHORETZ was allegedly writing books. [REDACTED] stated this would absolutely make sense inasmuch as PODHORETZ writings go back years and years. However, [REDACTED] advised this was not actually unemployment, in the same sense as unemployment

b6
b7C

for the average worker. PODHORETZ always was writing, lecturing and remaining active even when not specifically employed by any business or organization.

[] described PODHORETZ as the finest woman I know. [] stated PODHORETZ had a good sense of humor, was humble, and very bright; in fact, [] considered PODHORETZ to be a bonifide intellectual.

b6
b7C

[] considered PODHORETZ to be a most loyal human being to the United States.

b6
b7C

[] advised PODHORETZ was the embodiment of honesty and discretion and considered her moral character to be absolutely above reproach.

[] advised PODHORETZ's relatives and associates were all fine, traditional type individuals. [] noted that PODHORETZ's son-in-law, [] was employed as an Under Secretary of State for the United States Government.

b6
b7C

[] advised that PODHORETZ had no alcohol abuse or drug use. In fact, [] said he could consider nothing bigger waste of time than a back ground investigation regarding PODHORETZ. [] stated he would recommend PODHORETZ for anything, including President of the United States.

b6

Comments of [] were obtained on November 21, 1984, and he was advised of the provision of the Privacy Act.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATES

On November 19, 1984, [redacted], President, SARAH SCAIFE FOUNDATION, 3 Mellon Bank Center, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (PA), furnished the following information:

b6
b7C

He is also the Treasurer and Trustee of the CARTHAGE FOUNDATION, another charitable organization funded by the SCAIFE'S.

He first met the appointee in approximately 1978, when she was the Editor of BASIC BOOKS.

In June of 1980, the CARTHAGE FOUNDATION began funding the Committee for the Free World which was organized by the appointee.

As background, [redacted] advised the appointee has always been an activist who associated with a particular group of writers and other activists who were concerned with ideas and publishing ventures. In 1980, the Committee for the Free World was set up by the appointee with the Board of Directors consisting of well-known writers from both the United States and foreign countries. All of these individuals were concerned with the preservation of western traditions and values. Many of these same people had previously been active, and in some ways supportive of some counter culture activities in the past. They eventually saw the directions being taken by these counter culture activities and became effective spokesmen to counter some of these counter culture ideas. [redacted] characterized them as neo-conservatives and felt the appointee was very effective, along with other members of the Committee for the Free World, in publishing and being spokesman for the preservation of western values and traditions.

b7C

b6
b7C

[redacted] stated the appointee was an activist and has been active for most of her life in editing and publication. He recalled the appointee was responsible for a conference in London, England, during the spring of 1984, in which many dissidents from Communist dominated countries were brought together so their voices against Communist domination could be heard. The appointee was also responsible for a conference in New York City approximately 1½ years ago which was critical of writers in small influential papers and magazines.

b6

[] stated the appointee is highly respected, both for her ability and personality, although some individuals would be critical of her. He cited that, in appointee's early work, she was critical of the radical feminist movement and supported articles in favor of traditional family values. Due to this stance, many feminists are still against the appointee.

b7C

[] stated the appointee associates with a small group of east coast influential people, who he considered to be the intelligentsia, whose world revolves around ideas and their discussions.

b7C

He did indicate that many of these associates, over two to three decades ago, were young Trotskyites and/or Marxists, but they had since changed their persuasion and become active defenders of the United States political system. He indicated everyone was aware of their former activities. In fact, he has heard [] the former head of the UNITED STATES INFORMATION AGENCY, characterize the appointee as a person who "has a lot of baggage from years ago, but everyone knows it".

[] felt appointee had no friends who would embarrass her or anyone else because of her association with them. He did feel that because of her activist stance in many situations, there would be factions who would oppose any appointment given to her. He felt these opponents would be very predictable, but would not be able to bring any justifiable criticism of the appointee to light.

b6
b7C

Appointee's reputation has always been excellent and there has never been any reason to question her honesty, integrity, or other moral characteristics. Appointee is an articulate defender of traditional western values and someone who personally subscribes and practices these values. She possesses sound judgement and many of her friends and associates depend on her for this ability to both judge people and professional activities.

PG 161B-1730-2644

[] has never had any reason to question appointee's loyalty to the United States nor has he ever known appointee to use drugs or abuse alcohol. He is unaware of any embarrassing situations or information which could be used to compromise appointee.

b7C

[] stated he has no hesitancy whatever in recommending appointee for a position of high trust and confidence with the United States Government. He considers the appointee to be one of the very best people in her field of expertise, which he described as publishing critical reviews of publications and working with young writers and scholars in developing new ideas and defending traditional ones. He felt the appointee exerts an excellent influence on the people she associates with and has an ability to inspire and bring out the best in these individuals.

Leaders Confront Ideas At Shavano Seminars

IRVING KRISTOL
Editor, Public Opinion
Keystone, Colorado
February 1984

Economic education for a citizen of a democratic capitalist society should have the aim of teaching him as much economics as Adam Smith knew and no more.

Because affluence tends to corrupt people's sense of appropriate economic behavior, they need to learn the way markets work to the general interest, and that when you interfere with markets there are costs.

We also have a problem of political leadership. The battle of ideas is never won simply by intellectuals on one side or the other. Ideas need to be attached to political leaders who show their viability in the real world and then mobilize popular support behind them. Conservatism in the United States has, on the whole, not produced that leadership.

ARNAUD de BORCHGRAVE
Co-author The Spike, Monimbo
Keystone, Colorado
September 1983

Worried about the news? You should be. America's understanding of Soviet-

Cuban global strategy is clouded through censorship-by-omission in the national press, and sometimes by deliberate media distortion. Reporting seems designed to transform our sworn enemies into misunderstood innocents. The national plague of self-hatred has to stop. Americans need a war of liberation from self-delusion.

MIDGE DECTER
Shavano Distinguished Fellow
Chicago, Illinois
January 1984

The business community must cease believing that ideas are not its business or that money can buy some kind of intellectual truce. Such appeasement is no longer a viable alternative.

What is needed now is for American business to stand up and reaffirm itself — not only for its own interest in the short run, but for the interest of the entire society.

Reagan, Buckley, Gilder Praise 'Creative Outreach'

Ronald Reagan's personal tribute to the leadership work of Shavano and Hillsdale capped a two-day Institute program in Florida, February 9-10. "Hillsdale deserves the appreciation of all who labor for freedom," the President said in a videotaped message. "Your creative outreach on national issues enables little Hillsdale to cast such a long shadow."

The message made Reagan a surprise "guest" at the Palm Beach testimonial dinner where George Roche, president of Shavano and Hillsdale, presented a Freedom Leadership Award to U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick. Earlier, 120 participants from several states had attended an all-day Shavano seminar on the war of ideas, and the trustees of Shavano and Hillsdale had held a joint board meeting.

Other grace notes in the Shavano Institute's 1983-84 national seminar series came from William F. Buckley, Jr. of National Review and from George Gilder, author of the forthcoming Spirit of Enterprise.

"American values today suffer from

The outlook for the free world is brighter today than it has been for some time past, not because of political or strategic factors, but because of the presence on the world scene of three extraordinary spiritual figures: Alexander Solzhenitsyn, Malcolm Muggeridge, and John Paul II. Each of these giants understands that the East-West struggle is fundamentally a struggle over the nature of man — is he a child of God, or merely the highest of the animals? — and they are helping to focus the issue in these terms for the United States and its friends and allies. And President Reagan not only grasps this essential point, but he has the courage to come out and say so, as he showed in his "evil empire" remark to the Christian broadcasters convention.

severe image problems which, through clear thinking, the Shavano Institute seeks to dispel," Buckley said at Nashville on November 18.

At Dallas on October 3, Gilder had reflected in a similar vein on his education at Harvard: "People have to understand that Hillsdale really is better. Because Hillsdale teaches its students the great values — family, country, religion, political and economic freedom — while the Ivy League and many other fashionable schools now ignore those values or actively discourage them."

TV Debates; Six Shows Aired, Two More Planned

Counterpoint, Shavano's television debate series where liberal and conservative advocates face off for an hour on the issues, continues to reach national audiences.

South Carolina Educational Television is the presenting station for national satellite distribution of two more Counterpoint programs during April. PBS stations across the country will have the option of broadcasting to their communities:

- The Future of Nuclear Deterrence — Gen. Daniel O. Graham vs. Adm. Stansfield Turner.
- The Church and World Politics — Rev. Edmund Robb, Institute on Religion and Democracy, vs. William P. Thompson, World Council of Churches.

Earlier shows in the series, still being rebroadcast on local public channels and cable stations in many areas, have included:

- The Roles of Government and Business
- Unions in Politics: Whom Do They Represent?
- Which Way to Disarmament?
- Welfare: Whose Responsibility?

George Roche, host and moderator of the Shavano TV debates, plans to film two more programs in the series in Washington this June. Educational excellence and media fairness are the probable topics.

THIS IS SHAVANO

The Shavano Institute was founded in 1981 as an outreach division of Hillsdale College. Shavano exists to foster enlightened leadership and informed decision making for America's third century, by communicating the fundamental principles of freedom and order on which Western civilization is based.

Reaching out from a home base in Denver, the Institute takes its name from Mount Shavano (rhymes with Navajo), a high peak along the Continental Divide. Shavano's logo depicts the angel-shaped glacier that appears every spring on the mountain, symbolizing "renewal with God's help" in Colorado's legend.

Is a Sea-Change of Ideas Underway?

by George C. Roche

Throughout history there have been formative moments in which particular leaders come forward and have a profound impact on the character and events of a nation.

Motivated primarily by two ideas, the Thomas Jefferson limited government idea and the Adam Smith free enterprise ideas, our Founding Fathers charted our national path toward limited government, the dignity of free men, and the marvelous prosperity we have enjoyed in this country.

The next great sea-change in ideas came around the turn of the twentieth century.

Unfortunately, the path charted in the early years of this century favored the collective over the individual, redirecting America on an increasingly hazardous path as the century progressed. The momentum for collectivism was imparted not by public figures but by little-known men of ideas.

Now there are signs all around us that, with the election of Ronald Reagan in 1980, freedom and the individual are making themselves heard again. But this may or may not signal the decisive emergence of conservative personalities and policies as the new American political establishment, because we are still in a time of extraordinary flux, another sea-change.

The real battle is the battle of ideas — and that battle is just beginning. We can play a part in guiding the formation and direction of the new world that is emerging.

George Roche, president of Hillsdale College and Shavano Institute in 1981, serves as the dean of Shavano's seminars and moderator of its television debate series. These remarks are from his lecture at an August 1984 seminar at The Greenbrier in West Virginia, attended by 40 participants from 15 states.

Responsibility and Illusion

by Midge Decter

Freedom — as people must discover and rediscover in every generation — is a great burden.

A free individual must be responsible for himself and, to the extent that he wishes to be an adult and experience life to the fullest, for others as well. He must make his choices and accept the consequences of his behavior. He must take strength from his successes and pay for his failures. His days will be full of effort and worry, and they will require his courage: moral, physical, and spiritual.

The same is true — though of course in slightly different terms — for a free society. Its preservation and defense must involve a continuous, and literally endless, effort.

The temptation is always there to give up. This temptation offers itself to us in the guise of a number of illusions: There must be quick solutions to our problems, say the tempter and the tempted. We have no enemies really, or we need have no enemies if we but behave ourselves properly. The best defense is a vulnerability so complete, so unmistakable, that our harmlessness will turn away the wrath of those who wish us ill. And finally, the most sinfully tempting illusion of all: that if we declare good to be bad, refuse to take our nourishment and blessing from it, we will magically be presented with something even better.

This last illusion is an especially American illusion. Unless it is exposed over and over again to the cold light of day and in each of its many disguises, it will do us in long before the first Russian ever lands on our shore.

We are not, must not be, ready to be done in. It is time for us, then, to begin to take up our responsibility with steady, quiet good cheer.

Midge Decter is executive director of the Committee for the Free World and a Distinguished Fellow of the Shavano Institute. These remarks are from her lecture at an August 1984 seminar at Hidden Valley in Michigan, attended by 40 participants from eight states.

NATIONAL LEADERSHIP: Shavano has spanned the country during 1984, producing 11 leadership seminars and two "Counterpoint" television debates at the locations shown. Views from six of the seminars appear in this issue.

Primer on the Deficit

by Edwin J. Feulner, Jr.

We're either spending too much or taxing too little. In order to find out which, Peter Grace, chairman of the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, performs a little exercise of comparison. He compares the years 1962 and 1983.

1962 was the first full year of the Kennedy Administration. Real GNP was up 5.8%; inflation was 1.8%; the prime rate was 4.5%; the total federal deficit was $7.1 billion or 1.3% of GNP.

By comparison, 1983 had a record deficit of $207.8 billion or 6.4% of GNP.

But while federal revenues in 1962 were 18.2% of GNP, in 1983 they were still only 18.6%. To get back to the 1962 revenue level on a percentage basis, we would actually have to cut taxes another $12.9 billion. In 1962, federal spending was 19.5% of GNP — in 1983 it was 25.0%. To get back to the 1962 percentage level we would have to cut spending $177.6 billion.

Defense accounted for 9.4% of GNP in 1962. In 1983 it was only 6.0%. We would have to add $109.8 billion to defense spending in 1983 to reach the same percentage level as 1962. Social welfare spending, on the other hand, increased from 5.6% of GNP in 1962 to 13.0% in 1983, and the difference cost us an additional $238.9 billion in 1983.

The effect of holding both revenue and outlays to the same percentages of GNP in 1983 as in 1962 would be a $164.7 billion reduction in the deficit — just about the whole deficit as currently estimated.

A Young Movement For Old Principles

by Barry M. Goldwater

A conservative wants to base his judgments and actions for the future on the successes of the past. A conservative is not unwilling to try new ideas, but if there is anything in those ideas that indicates that they have been tried before and failed, then we're inclined not to go.

For example, socialism is an old idea in this world. It has never worked. It has never produced anything for anybody. Yet we still have people who are willing to change our free enterprise system to a socialist system because they think it might work.

The ideology of conservatism is probably the oldest and most consistently successful ideology that we have. Why has it been reborn in these last few years? Not solely because of President Reagan, although he has been a tremendous help. It's also because of the younger people in America, people who want to become successful on their own, the young, ambitious people who understand the Constitution and our way of life even better than their fathers and mothers understand it.

I think, therefore, that we're going to see a rather long period of conservative control of the Congress and of our courts, particularly the Supreme Court.

Barry M. Goldwater, the longtime Senator from Arizona, was the Republican candidate for President in 1964. These remarks are from his television message to a September 1984 seminar in Santa Barbara, California, attended by 50 participants from 12 states.

The Natural System of Liberty

by Michael Novak

Smith, Montesquieu, Tocqueville, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, and Franklin envisioned and helped to realize a "natural system of liberty," open to all human beings everywhere.

Basic to this system are the concepts of (1) original sin and the division of powers; (2) creativity and invention; (3) confidence in the human person and in his freely chosen communities; and (4) an emphasis both upon cooperation and upon such notions as compromise, the loyal opposition, and the right to dissent.

In 1945, Japan had been virtually destroyed in war. Even today, Japan is almost 100 percent energy-dependent. Its total size is that of the state of Montana and, like Montana, it is mainly mountain-natural resources, except climate.

Compare Japan to Brazil. Brazil may be the single wealthiest nation on earth in terms of natural resources. Brazil is the size of the entire continental United States. The populations of Brazil and Japan are almost identical: about 118 million. Yet tiny Japan, not particularly blessed by nature, produces today ten percent of gross world product. Brazil, fabulously blessed by nature, produces less than one percent and is ninety billion dollars in debt.

Boot Camp for Idea-Leaders

by David LesStrang

It is vital that individuals recognize that ideas rule the world and that all of our social, political, and economic problems have a moral and spiritual base. This knowledge, used properly, can equip us to help replace authoritarian governments with free ones.

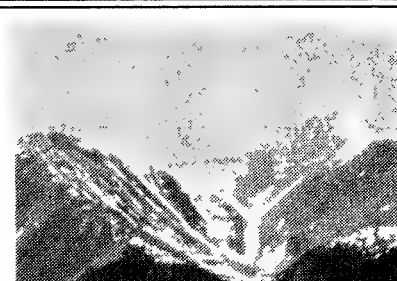

After a needed dose of idealism/realism at the Shavano Keystone seminar, I have returned to Washington, D.C. and am now fulfilling my personal action commitment as an idea-leader, working under the direction of M. Stanton Evans at Human Events, the national conservative weekly.

For me, the Shavano Institute has been an incredible "boot camp" in the war of ideas.

David LesStrang of Traverse City, Michigan, is a senior at Hillsdale College and editor of the college's weekly newspaper. He made these comments after participating in a May 1984 seminar in Colorado, attended by 45 students and faculty from eight states and six different colleges or universities.

This example illustrates three points. First, wealth is not caused by the possession of great natural resources, but rather by intellect: by the underlying idea of order or system, by invention, by disciplined cooperation and concern for savings and investment in the future, and by creative economic activism. Second, a nation such as Japan need not be Jewish or Christian in order to make "the natural system of liberty" work. Third, this system has two crucial effects: it protects institutions of human rights and it typically produces economic development.

Michael Novak is a resident fellow at the American Enterprise Institute, and the winner of a Freedoms Foundation medal and Proud of It, published by Imprimis in October 1983. These remarks are from his lecture at a June 1984 seminar in Keystone, Colorado, attended by 36 participants from 13 states.

SHAVANO IN BRIEF

The Shavano Institute was founded in 1981 as an outreach division of Hillsdale College. Shavano exists to foster enlightened leadership and informed decision making for America's third century, by communicating the fundamental principles of freedom and order on which Western civilization is based.

Reaching out from a home base in Denver, the Institute takes its name from Mount Shavano (rhymes with Navajo), a high peak along the Continental Divide. Shavano's logo depicts the angel-shaped glacier that appears every spring on the mountain, symbolizing "renewal with God's help" in Colorado legend.
